A NEW REVOLUTION

Has Broken Out in Southern Honduras.

Fears Expressed That All the Central American Republics Will Become Involved, Which Would Lead to Serious Complications

Ry Telegraph to The Times.

PANAMA (Colombia,) via Galveston March 5 .- [By the Associated Press.] A new revolution has broken out in Southern Honduras which may lead to the overthrow of President Pinciano Leiva and possibly involve all the Central American republics in war.

Policarpo Bonilla is the leader of the new revolt, and he has started in so well that he has sent word to his friends in Panama that success is already assured.

Gen. Ferrencia Sierra is chief of the revolutionary army which Bonilla has organized, and together they make up the strongest combination that could be formed in Southern Honduras.

FIRST VICTORY. Bonilla's first victory was won yes terday on the plaza at Choluteca. That town was protected by a force of 1500 men, commanded by Gen. Matutes. With an army of only 1000 Bonilla and Gen. Sierra attacked the forces garrisoned at Choluteca. They met a brave resistance and a hotly contested battle was fought on the plaza. The loss on each side was heavy and many buildings were destroyed, but details of fatalities have not reached this city. After more than two hours of determined fighting, Gen. Matutes, with his broken and shattered army, was forced to retreat toward Amopola, leaving Choluteca and large amounts of arms and many prisoners in the hands of Bo-nilla's victorious army. Excited by their victory, and determined to make the most of it, Bonilla and Sierra are now pushing on toward Tegucigalpa, ng to capture the capital and proclaim the success of the revolution before the government has had time to re-cover from the surprise occasioned by the victory of Choluteca.

BATTLE EXPECTED. A decisive battle between the army of Leiva and the Bonilla forces is ex ected to take place within a few days. Meanwhile complications are arising which may bring about a general war among the Central American republics President Leiva accuses the govern-ment of Nicaragua of aiding Bonilla in bringing about the revolution. He has telegraphed President Sacaza at gua demanding an explanation. President Leiva expects to have the aid of Guatemala and should Sacaza openly attempt to rein-force Bonilla, both Costa Rica and San Salvador may declare war against Nicarauga, and thus involve all the Central American republics, save one, in bloodshed.

Senator Hill Loses His Temper at Senator Allison's Conduct. New York, March 5.—[By the Associated Press.] A Washington special to a morning paper says that the leading topic of conversation in political circles today was the spicy scrimmage that took place between Senators Allison and Hill in the closing hours of Congress yesterday, and which has just eaked out.

The trouble arose over the New York Bridge Bill. Senator Hill tried to call the bill up several times, but just when the right moment arrived, and the ap-propriation would have been made, a report came from the Conference Com-mittee, and the bridge bill had to give way. Finally Senator Hill lost his tem-per, and, crossing the chamber to the Republican side, walked up to where Senator Allison was sitting, and said, sharply and apprily, to him: "Senator Allison, you and Hiscock jare conspir-

Allison, you and Hiscock are conspiring to defeat my bill." Senator Hill then took his seat.

Senator Allison felt that he had been grossly insulted. He at once sprang from his seat, and hurrying over to Senator Hill's desk declared in the most forcible manner that the statement made by the Senator from New York was a departure from the truth. Then he abruptly returned to his seat. Today, however, mutual apologies were

A SHIP COLLISION.

The Steamer Santa Rosa Runs into the Ship Flintshire SAN FRANCISCO, March 5 .- [By the Associated Press. | The steamer Santa Rosa, bound for San Diego, collided with the British ship Flintshire this morning off Black Point in the harbor and narrowly escaped serious disaster. The Flintshire was lying at anchor, and the Santa Rosa had just started on her regular run down the Coast. While passing between the ship and shore at a ten knot rate and about a ship's length distant from the Flintshire, the chain to the stearing gear parted, and the Santa Rosa instantly veered to the right and bore down on the Flintshire.

THE COLLISION. A small panic ensued among the pas sengers. In an instant the big steamer went crashing against the ship, striking her a glancing blow at full speed and carrying away her cathead, part of the head gear and inflicting other dam-age on the ship. The Santa Rosa suf-fered most, the hurricane deck, starboard, fore rigging, forward starboard life boats, mizzen top mast and eighty feet of rail being torn away. There was much excitement, but no one was The Santa Rosa returned to he dock and will be laid up one trip, the Mexico taking her place, starting to morrow. No one is to blame.

a Quiet Day Judge Gresham Calls on Them-A Swell Dinner, By Telegraph to The Times.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland Spend

Washington, March 5.- By the Associated Press. There was but little outward indication today of the quiet and sanctity which are considered as attributes of the orthodox Sabbath. The enthusiasm continued with some trifling diminution throughout the night. When the serious business of the day of inducting the new administration into office was completed, the restraint of discipline was removed and the hosts of good natured visitors who had captured the Federal Capital proceeded to consult their personal preferences as to ways and means of enjoyment. Up to a late hour many of the clubs preceded by bands, paraded the streets.

The hotel corridors were filled all night with men who strolled about in an aimless way, while the variety of forms in which they expressed their emotions were without limit. A favorite form of amusement was "cracking the whip," and it was an odd sight to see such solid and dignified citizens as belong to the Duckworth Club of Cincinnati trying to hurl the unfortunates who, being at the wrong end of the line, had to serve as "crackers" into infinate space. Throughout the day the streets were throughd with pedestrians, and every thoroughfare was enlivened with more or less brilliant equippages. Clubs and bands paraded, and groups of guards-men promenaded, many visited the various favorite points of interest, and each stranger enjoyed himself in his own way. IN THE EXECUTIVE MANSION. The first part of the day was passed by the President and Mrs. Cleveland in the Executive Mansion. The public entrance remained closed, although constantly besieged by visitors whose curiosity prompted them to seek admittance. The various walks through the grounds adjoining the White House were constantly thronged with strangers, who quietly inspected the exterior of the historic building. The exterior of the historic building. THE EXTRA SESSION

Likely to Prove an Interesting and Per haps an Exciting One, WASHINGTON, March 5 .- By the Associated Press. | The Senate of the Fifty.

third Congress will reassemble in special session tomorrow at noon. Usually the special sessions are perfunctory and formal, the business being confined to the reception of nominations from the President. But because of the peculiar situation of affairs, so far as the composition of the Senate itself is concerned, with doubtful standing Senators who hold appointments from the Governors of States instead of credentials of election by the legislatures, and further because of the an nounced intention of Senator Stewart of Nevada to precipitate a silver discussion by the introduction of a resolution of inquiry directed to the new Secre-tary of the Treasury, it may be that this special session will assume a degree of importance and excite such popular interest as never before have

ROW IN A CHURCH.

A Deposed Priest Prohibits the Reading of a Letter. Swedesboro (N. J.,) March 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Rev. William Treacy and his brother, the deposed priest, created a scene in church today when Rev. Father Leahy, who was sent here by Bishop O'Farrell to take charge of the parish, attempted to read the Bishop's letter to the parishoners. Rev. William Treacy strode dramatically to the altar and loudly commanded Father Leahy not to read the letter. The priest was accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Garrison and Constable Taylor, whom he ordered to arrest Father Leaby if the latter persisted in reading the letter.

AN OUTBREAK IMMINENT. There was intense excitement in the church and a serious outbreak was imminent. Father Leahy saw that the priests and officers were in earnest and quietly withdrew. The Treacys are in possession of the rectory here, and openly defy the authority of Mgr. Satolli and Bishop O'Farrell. They say Rome alone can control them. Legal means will be taken by Father Leahy to secure possession of the rectory.

IDLE LABORERS. They Will Appeal to the Supervisors to Furnish Relief.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5 .- | By the Associated Press. | Fifteen hundred unemployed workmen met in the public plaza today to demand that the City Supervisors devise means to secure work for them. A number of laboring men spoke among them R. T. Mclvor, who said that not less than 25 per cent. of the skilled labor in the city is in enforced idleness. He made a bitter complaint that the Supervisors had ignored former appeals for assistance. DENIS ON DECK. Denis Kearny, once of sand-lot fame ascribed much of the dulines to the in vasion of the Japanese, but his remarks met with a cold reception. It was decided to appoint a committee to wait on the Supervisors tomorrow night. Contemporaneous with this labor movement is the appearance today of the Tageblatt, a daily German Socialist and labor organ, edited by Paul Grott-kau, who is said to have been associated with August Spies in Chicago, before that celebrated Anarchist was hanged.

THE THREE GREAT QUESTIONS. The New Senate Polled on Hawaii, Silver and Tariff. NEW YORK, March 5.—[By the Associated Press.] A special to the World from Washington says reporters have polled the new Senate on the three great questions of legislation, asking each Senator: "Do you favor the repeal of the Sherman silver law?" "Do you favor the repeal of the McKintey tariff law?" "Do you favor the annexation of Hawaii?"

Of the eighty-three Senators in town 39 favor and 28 oppose repeal of the Sherman law, while 16 were non-committal, 41 favor and 33 oppose repeal of the McKinley act, while 9 are noncommittal and 40 favor and 20 oppose annexation of Hawari, while 23 are mportant Bills Investigated and Reported by the Congressional Committees, but Which Were Allowed to Take a Siesta

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, March 5 .- By the As ociated Press. | The silver and tariff questions, Anti-option Bill and reduction in appropriations were the leading topics of consideration by the Fifty second Congress, which expired yester-

Secondary only in importance to those matters were the measures relating to the World's Fair, equipment of railroads with automatic car couplers, national quarantine and immigration, Bering ea and Hawaiian annexation. Nothing of an affirmative nature except to prevent two items in the McKinley Bill taking effect was actually accomplished. The result of the agitation for retrenchment in expenditures is not apparent in any considerable change in the aggreappropriations. The condition of the public treasury undoubtedly prevented the authorization of many roposed new expenditures. A notable instance was seen in the fact that not a single public building bill passed the House, and it was only by putting a number of them on the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill that any authorizations whatever for public buildings

THE TWO BIG QUESTIONS. The silver question was kept steadily pefore the attention of Congress by the alternate efforts of the advocates of free coinage, and for the repeal of the Sherman law, both of which, however,

On the tariff the dominant party in the House adopted the policy of attack-ing the McKinley bill in detail. The complexion of the Senate made it practically out of the question to pass any general tariff revision bill. The result was the enactment into law of two bills, one continuing block tin on the free list, and the other fine linen at 35 per cent. ad valorem. Other separate bills passed through the House, but only to be pigeon-holed in the Senate.

THE ANTI-OPTION AND OTHER BILLS. The Anti-option Bill passed both louses, but was killed by a refusal to suspend the rules, and to agree by two-thirds vote to the amendments out on the bill by the Senate. The Pure Food Bill, the running-mate of the Anti-option, passed the Senate, but was never able to get consideration in the House.

The World's Fair legislation comprised a grant of $2,500,000 in souvenir half-dollars in aid of the fair. closing its gates on Sunday, appropriations in various amounts for different fair purposes and passage of sundry acts of a special nature and minor im-portance. The Automatic Car Coupler Bill was shorn of its drastic features, and enacted into law, as was also the National Quarantine Bill, increasing the powers of the Marine Hospital service to meet threatened dangers cholera, and the immigration law, posing additional restrictions on immigration, but not suspending it entirely, and the Senate bill regarding the Bering Sea seal fisheries, by ratifying the treaty of arbitration.

EXTRADITION TREATIES. It also ratified extradition treaties with Russia and other countries, but still has before it the treaty for the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. The opening of the Cherokee outlet was provided for in the Indian bill under the clause appropriating $8,295,000 for its purchase from Indians, $295,-000 to be paid in cash and $8,000,000 in five equal annual installments.

Approximately 425 House and 235 Senate bills and joint resolutions became laws, making 660 acts put on the statute books.

A recapitulation of the work shows the House passed in round numbers 325 bills, of which 200 failed in the Senate, and about 625 bills passed by the Senate failed in the House. Three bills were vetoed by the President, viz., to refer the McGarrahan claim to the Court of Claims (the second McGarrahan bill failing action in the House); to amend the Court of Appeals act, and one in relation to marshals in the United States courts in Alabama. The last bill became a law by its passage over the veto.

The President subjected three bills to a "pocket" veto, and two others failed of engrossment in time for presenta-tion to him. All the others were of comparatively small importance. BILLS NOT REPORTED. Pension and census offices, whisky trust, Panama Canal and Pacific Mail companies, Watson-Cobb charges, Pinkerton system and Homestead troubles, Maverick and Spring Garden Bank fail-ures, Ellis Island immigration station were investigated by Congressional committees, but nothing came of the reports submitted. The Papal Delegate.

FEARFUL SHAKE-UP

Sandgate in Kent Slides into the Sea.

Two Hundred Houses Destroyed -Inhabitants Terror-stricken.

In Their Panic They Fly from Their Houses to the Open Fields.

News from Stanley Pool, Africa, of the Horrible Massacre of Two Expeditions-War Against the Arabs.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, March 5. - By Cable and Associated Press.] Late last night the people of Sandgate, Kent, were aroused by a rocking of houses and loud rum-blings underground. Walls split, ceilings fell, foundations sank and roofs fell in as the inhabitants fled to the streets. They found large rents in the ground, and were almost overcome with noxious vapors. Everybody supposed the town had been shaken by an earthquake, and, as the rumbling continued hundreds fled in panic to the nearest towns. A few remained behind to remove their furniture from the falling

TROOPS TO THE RESCUE.

The report being carried abroad by fugitives caused the troops in the adja cent camp to hasten to the aid of the people who were still in Sandgate. The soldiers and citizens worked for two hours in moving the most valuable property from the houses and in erecttents in the fields about a mile out the town for the women and

At the end of that time the rumbling had ceased and an investigation was made in the town by the commander of the troops and several citizens. They found the ground on which Sandgate stands had sunk several feet and that the subsidence extended throughout the surrounding district for about a square RECURRENCE OF THE RUMBLINGS.

The gas and water pipes were dis turbed so that supplies of both gas and water were stopped. Many cottages were wrecked completely and the better built houses were cracked and thrown out of plumb so that they could not be occupied with safety. Nevertheless, many inhabitants returned to the town toward morning. Between 5 and 6 o'clock, however, they were frightened away again by further subsidence of the ground and a recurrence of the rumbling. These phenomena were repeated several times during the day and the town is now practically day, and the town is now practically deserted. As far as known no fives have been lost. The cause of the sub-sidence is unexplained.

TWO HUNDRED HOUSES DESTROYED. The disaster was caused by a landslide. The town is built upon a comparatively low cliff, close to the sea. The waves are believed to have under minded the cliff, which then settled and slipped toward the water, carrying with it a portion of the town. Two hundred houses were destroyed.

The Athletic Girl.

"The athletic young woman," says an exchange, "is as much a product of modern society as the college-bred girl. With the broadening of the intellect, there has naturally come a demand for strong physical health to meet the demands of study. Fainting is virtually an old-fashioned disease. It is almost as rare for a woman to faint today as it is for a man. Yet it was once the proper thing for women to faint on every occasion. The presence of a mouse, a runaway accident, the news of a tragedy, the death of a friend, each and all were occasions when, according to the novelists, the average woman dropped into a swoon and the crisis was left to the care of their masculine pro left to the care of their masculine pro-tectors or of the maid servants of the time, who were, fortunately, superior to this weakness. A STORY OF POISONOUS WOOD. How an Old Chickasaw Indian Chief Killed

"I heard a remarkable story, relative to poisonous wood," said Maximilian Wideman to a St. Louis Globe-Democrat reporter. "It comes from the Chicka-saw Indian Nation, and I have reason to believe it. An old Indian chief, who was possessed of a venomous nature, took enmity against a younger warrior of the nation for some small occurrence of the nation for some small occurrence in the tribal life. He carried his hatred through a series of years and events, scheming, no doubt, how to rid himself of the younger Indian, who was rather idolized by the young braves.

WASHING FLANNELS.

The Secrets of Yellowings and Shrinkings
-How to Iron Wool Underwear. Contributed to The Times

To launder woollen fabrics properly requires a liberal education in the vir tnes of omission.

Whatever the quality and texture of them, the aim is to have them come out without shrinking or fulling, with no harshness to the touch, with only the faint odor of thoroughly clean wool; and of exactly the tint that they knew in their first estate. With white stuffs this last-named perfection is not always possible, as long usage invariably brings to them a yellow tinge, more or less pronounced, but wholly different to the grimy dinginess resultant from bad washing.

FOUR CARDINAL RULES. Never let soap touch a woolen textile. This is the first commandment.

The second is, use none but boraxsoap to make the suds.

The third is to have blood-warm water

-neither hot nor cold. —neither not nor coid.

The last and greatest of all, not to let the garments suffer a change of temperature while wet, as from that springs the harsh thickening so disagreeable and so destructive. DRY BLANKETS IN HOT STUSHING Wash your blankets, if possible, always upon a clear summer day, and do not begin until the sun shines hot. The first thing is to dissolve half a pound of pure powdered borax in about five gal-lons of water, so warm that you can just bear your hand in it. Put in a blanket at a time and, wash quickly, laving it back and fourth, and rub only especially dirty spots. Wring lightly, and wash through a lively suds of the same heat as the borax water.

To insure that the suds shall hold no best borax soap in boiling water, and use enough of the solution to make a white foam in your tub. Wash through the suds as rapidly as possible, wring well, then rinse in clear water also blood warm. After that put bit of soap, first dissolve a bar of the

it into blueing water—be sure it is pure indigo—which must be of the same temperature as the rest. BLANKETS ON THE LINE.

Now have y our line stretched east and west, so as to get full sunshine upon the drying surface. Have it also swung as high as you can conveniently

Throw a bare edge of the blanket over, pin it taut and smooth, taking particular pains to have it hang square and level. Properly in place, almost and level. Properly in place, almost the whole breadth of it will hang single, thus insuring the rapid drying that is so essential for anything woollen. In an hour, if the sun shines hot and the blanket has been properly wrung, it will be dry enough to fold for ironing. HOW TO IRON BLANKETS.

In ironing a blanket be as careful to keep the fold true as you were in hang-ing out. Use heavy, very smooth irons, not too hot, and go over the surface with them at least three times, but do not iron except on one side.

WASHING BLANKETS IN WINTER. Very often the stress of affairs makes blanket washing necessary in winter weather

In that case it is better to wash and rinse in cold water, as it is the change of temperature that contracts the fibre After washing, hang out single and allow to freeze dry. It may take several days, but is far better than any sort of house or closet drying. If there is need of haste, though, set a folding clothes norse so as to inclose the range or laundry fire, spread the blanket single upon it, and dry, watching continually so as not to let it scorch.

Two things most religiously avoid. One is leaving blankets in soak; the other, letting them come in contact with boiling water. As to which is the worse it is hard to say, as both are simply ruinous to any pure woollen fabric. ric. Then come equally shrinkage, thickening, roughness, ill swells and

FLANNEL UNDERWEAR. Ordinary white flannel garments are to be washed very much the same way as blankets. The blue water, perhaps, needs to be a little stronger and may eeds to be a little stronger and may ave a little cooked starch dissolved in it with advantage to body garments that go next a peculiarly sensitive

The starch must not be enough to give even a trace of stiffness. Its use is merely to make the iron smoothing a little more effectual, and to help hold down the fine woolly fibres that with-out it might produce itching or irritation.

WASHING COLORED FLANNELS.

Colored flannels, such as wrappers dressing sacks, children's garments, should first have every removable plait or fold picked loose, then be thoroughly brushed and shaken free of dust. If there are grease spots rub them over with a cloth dipped in benzine, then wet the garment thoroughly with warm water, to which prepared ox gall has been added in the proportion of one tablespoonful to ten gallons. This will brighten the colors and keen them free brighten the colors and keep them free from running. Wring the garment well, then let it go into the borax water— which ought to have half the quantity of borax before diluted and two table spoonsful of household ammonia.
Wash next through the suds, rinse twice, then dip in very weak starch that is without blueing, dry quickly and iron on the wrong side while still very damp.

UNNECESSARY GRIME.

Regarding dirt in woollens there i tion. If they are thrown carelessly or the floor or tossed pell-mell into closets they often get more of soilure there than in actual use. Wool fibre is, under the microscope, a succession of minute curves. The finer the wool the more hence the rough surface that lily catches dirt. It is certainly so readily catches dirt. It is certainly easier and better to have to deal only with necessary grime than with the double quantity which comes from care-less handling. Another point is not to put a very dirty garment along with those only d

Keep all extra dirty garments strictly to themselves. If you try the expedient of washing them after all the rest you will certainly have trouble for your pains. The cleansing power of borax water and suds is in the alkali, which, water and such sin the alkali, which, by combining with greasy dirt, makes, it soluble in the water. So, when their strength has been sapped by a dozen other pieces, it is idle to expect that they will make clean the worst of all. they will make clean the worst of all. It is far better to throw out the spent suds and make a fresh.

In case of an infant's flannels, it is often necessary to leave them for ten minutes in clear, warm water before beginning to wash.

Decoration of the Dome of the Administration Building.

The Stock Exhibit-Camels Coming O'er Desert and Sea-Vast Sums of Money Provided for the Cattle Exhibit Etc.

Special Correspondence of The Times. CHICAGO, Feb. 27. -The Chicago Times sent one of its reporters to the tip-top of the great dome of the Administration building to see the painting of William Leftwich Dodge, which cavers a circumference of 815 feet. Outside the dome is 275 feet high: ten feet less than the National Capitol. On the inside this would be more cavernous than grand were it not made to resemble a double dome, the upper dome measuring but 190 feet. From the roof at the base of the outer dome, "as high as anything else on the grounds," there is oppor tunity for a study of roofs. The largest is of a soft, dull olive, a pleasant color against a heavy sky. The Illinois dome is yellow. The Horticultural—of glass—a translucent green. The roof of the Government building and of the Fisheries are red. The Electric cupolas, brown. The Agricultural roof makes a white floor for the glitzering Pliana in white floor for the glittering Diana, in sharp contrast with the black and voluminous statues on Machinery Hall. The statuary near the climbing critic vociferated their muchness, being made for distant altitudes, and it was noticed that their colossal toes were already scaling off.

The dome picture represents Apollo on a throne receiving the Messrs. Sciences and Mmes. Arts, who bring with them trophles. To represent architecture, two winged steeds draw a car containing a model of the Parthe non. Sculpture brings the Venus of Milo, Agriculture her sheaf of wheat, and there are musicians and Roman soldiers and spectators; among the latter a very beautiful woman with a more beautiful child sits on the steps leading to the throne, behind where sit grave judges. The critic decides that, while the picture is of great merit, dis-tance lends enchantment.

Mr. Dodge, the youngest of the artists, not yet 25 years of age, was honored with the gold medal of the American Art Association. He has spent eight years in study at the Ecole des Beaux Arts. His "Death of the Minnisink" is too large, perhaps, to find space in the art exhibit. Mr. Dodge studied under Jerome, who is master of composition, and also under Balland, who is master of decorative art.

Mr. Sargent, the electrical engineer, on festival nights will burn thousands of colored incandescent lights, one roy just above the water's edge around the basin; another row a few feet higher up will reflect farther into the Lights on the loggias of the build-ings around the basin, arranged after some beautiful plan, will add their of fect, and rows of lights will shine from the colonnade story of the Administra-tion building, the lower part being kept dark. At the base of sach tier, of the MacMonnies fountain a row of lights will gleam through the water that falls over them, and a search light on the mezzanine floor will illuminate the whole. Another search light will play on the statue of the Republic at the east end of the basin.

The Gage Catering Company is to occupy 137,892 square feet, aside from privileges in all the fair buildings, sixteen in number, and a supply depot. The finest restaurant will be in the Administration building. 30,000 pounds of beef a day; two and a half tons of sandwiched ham; sixty

A "French Renaissance" building, the outside ornamented with marine animals-crusted with crustacea, so to speak, which is a very French sance, will harbor a deep-sea exhibit of a New England clam bake. In the basement is the bake, upon which the spell-bound visitor may gaze from above, if his life insurance will allow him the risk, through a 16x40-foot hole cut in ne first floor. There are more stores and sights, and above them all is a roof-garden café.

Naturally yacht clubs reside in annexes to clam-bakes, with their constant associates the Knights Templars at least, such is the arrangement made by the St. Bernard Commandery and the Chicago Yacht Club. Everything is to be recherche. Mr. Wood, of the Crustacean French Renaissance, says he will be able to feed 20,000, "if they will only come for their meals the right way." Ah! there's the rub. Come they any way, he may congratulate himself.

The restaurant in the Administration building is pronounced first, but the one in the Columbian Casino is to surpass everything, since its drectors are "the wealthy men of Chicago." No wonder the French Café did not sign bonds, and that it "failed to materialize." It is computed that 59,400 American com-positions and foreign concoctions can be eaten in the thirty-five places on the grounds proper and "beer will be served in nearly every

The Great White Horse Inn near Machinery Hall seems to present real at-tractions to the traveler and reader, especially to the admirers of Dickens. The interior arrangements are unfor-tunately modern in style; unfortunately, since there are many who would have gone to it because it was real, rather than to eat. Over the entrance will stand the white horse, modeled by Bonet. The open court into which the coaches were driven is reproduced.
Old style furniture will be reproduced in the parlors, and the cooking will be English. The inn will be headquarters for the Pickwick clubs.

While camels are coming o'er desert and sea, the lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea. They will meet at Jack-son Park, where the former will gratify much curiosity, but the latter will excite admiration and substantial inter-est. A great many women who will feel obliged to admire Kensington embroidery, painted porcelain, statuary and pictures, will take substantial pleas-ure in the beautiful creatures that art delights to copy and thrift to possess; nor will all of these be farmers or farmers' wives. The correspondence of the New York State Board shows already that about $120,000 have been given by eight States for the cattle exhibit. Illinois heads the list with $40,-000; Missouri, $20,000; Michigan asks for $15,000; Indiana, $15,000; Iowa, $10,000; Kentucky, $7500; Vermont, $7000. Ohio will duplicate World's Fair premiums for live stock; Nebraska may yet make an appropria-tion. Individuals only will exhibit New Jersey stock. New Hampshire will make no exhibit, and the Live Stock Breeders' Association will exhibit for Massachusetts.

There is a rumor that the Methodists will have only an office on the World's Fair grounds, as they are dissatisfied with their allotment of space compared with that of the Catholics, who have 20,000 feet of space assigned to them while the Methodists have only 400. and other denominations about the same amount. Bishop Merrill, with a committee, has made inquiry and filed protest. Mr. Peabody, the chief of the department, said he had warned all to make early application, and no sne had heeded the injunction except the Cath-olics; that the Methodists has applied for only 1200 square feet in which to make a religious exhibit, which was an exhibit of swinging frames to show church growth and progress, accomchurch growth and progress, accompanied with the photographs of prominent men. For that purpose Mr. Peabody thought 400 feet enough. The Catholics are to display their entire educational exhibit, and their space is rightly proportioned to the entire educational exhibit to occupy 1,750,000 feet. Brother Maurelian has collected material from all parts of the earth; that other denominations have no use for such a display and did not apply for it. The influence of the Pope and the activity of his American representatives were united to get all possible space; they asked for 60,000 feet of space.

Mrs. Patti Moore of Kansas City and Mrs. J. N. Edwards of St. Joseph, the lady managers of Missouri, have come to Chicago to give personal attention to the decoration of their building. The women of Missouri will make everything used in furnishing it with their own hands.

Mrs. Eva Mariotta of Italy is in Chicago. She will have charge of the crown laces of Queen Margharetta, which have never left Italy before. These historical fabrics will come by the way of the Italian legation, accompanied by the Queen's guard, as they are too valuable to be transmitted by Mrs. Mariotta alone. She is not to let them go out of her custody when once she has charge of them.

THE RAIN

Heavy Downpour Yesterday—Some In venience, but no Damage.

All day yesterday the rain continued to fall. From the soaking received on the day previous the ground had become very thoroughly saturated with moisture, and large quantities of water in consequence filled the courses and flooded gutters. The river raised several inches from the height reached Saturday evening, but not enough to cover more than one-fourth of the stretch of sand between the opposite embankments. In the city no damage has been reported, although the usual discomfort was occasioned by the flood that ran down the Arroyo de Los Reyes and through adjoining prop-erty. The streets in the vicin-ity of Pearl and Ninth were transferred into veritable water chautransferred into veritable water chan-nels during the heavier downpour, from the streams which are shed toward the west from the hill district, as is usual with every recurring rain, making it almost impassable at times for foot-passers to cross from sidewalk to side-walk.

Aside from the inconvenience caused, however, the rain is a needed and welcome one.

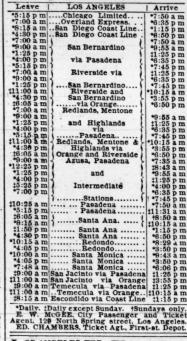

BALDNESS is often preceded or accompanied by grayness of the hair. To prevent both baidness and grayness, use Hall's Hair Renewer, an honest remedy.

he Programme for the Meeting This Evening-Interesting Papers. The Historical Society of Southern California will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening in Judge Austin's courtroom, old City Hall, Second street, at 7:30 o'clock. C. P. Dorland, Esq., will read a paper on "Primitive Man in California." H. D. Barrows will present another of his interesting reminiscences of "Pioneers of Southern Cali-California for forty years. He was personally acquainted with all the men prominent in the early history of Southern California, and his writt graphical sketches of many of the early pioneers.

The society enters on its tenth year with brighter prospects than at any previous time in its history. It has re-ceived applications from ten new members since the beginning of the year, The demand for its publications has in-creased to such an extent that it will be compelled to issue larger editions of its annual. It has recently secured a complete file of the Great Register of Los Angeles county from the first issued down to 1892. These are excellent object lessons to illustrate the growth of the county. The thin volume of twenty years ago, contrasted with the bulky register of last year, shows a wonderful growth in the last two decades. The object lesson would be more forcible if the county divisionists could be prevented from cutting off slices from this magnigeent county every few years.

Visitors are always welcome at the meetings of the society. Any one inmeetings of the society. Any one in terested in historical subjects will find the exercises both pleasing and instructive."

A Discriminating and Unjust Trans fer Policy,

We cannot avoid the belief that the managers of the cable and electric vogue. First we had the transfers be-reason was publicly assigned for this, much of the hill travel from the Second street electric line. Following this in close order came a partial discontinuance of transfers from the down-town

electric lines to the Second street line

Manager Flint gives the following rea-

We have had a great deal of complaint on account of overcrowded cars and for the sake of the people on the hills it has been found an advisable plan to restrict travel to a direct or continuous trip, and not transfer from the University line to the hills. On Sun-days, particularly, the cars are so crowded as to greatly impede smooth working and overtax the facilities we

Putting these two reasons together it may be seen that they do not jibe very well. First, the Temple street transfers are cut off to bring more traffic to the Second street line, and then the Second street transfers are cut down because that line has too much travel.

In other words, the electric manage ment has deliberately made the conditions from which it in turn seeks relief by further curtailing the privileges of Manager Flint takes some credit to himself for allowing transfers to working people up to 7 o'clock in the morning and after 6 o'clock in the evening, and thinks that therein his company performs its whole duty. The tide of travel which sets over the hill electric line between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., and especially the crowds who choose to ride out that way on Sunday, must be discriminated against because they overtax the facilities of the line. We would like to know by what authority the electric management assumes to dictate the class of traffic over its lipes and say which shall be favored and which discouraged. It is a common carrier, and should be obliged to treat

all classes alike. In fact, the discrimination is against the spirit of the franchise under which the lines are operated, and we believe it could be stopped

Manager Flint may assume that all this does not injure the hill section, but it does. It is a blow at that locality, and no other. First, all travel out the Temple street way is discouraged by withdrawing transfers, and then a certain class of travel by the Second street route is discouraged in the same way. Both avenues being thus hampered, where is this tide of travel to flow? Clearly to some other part of the city. It is an advantmany people ride out that way as possible. It is especially an advantage to have people come who are merely riding for pleasure and to see the sights.

Many of these people may be prospective investors or house-hunters, and, being pleased with the hill section when they once get into it, they may conclude to locate there. Cut off all travel for sightseeing in the hills and that section will forthwith cease to im-

Thus we say that the double discrim ination against transfers to the western part of the city is a blow against property-owners of that locality, and a more serious blow than they may at first imagine. It is a course also which will not accrue directly to the benefit of the railroad lines, but will cut down their revenues somewhat at present, and a great deal in the future. So long as building a road out through the sparsely settled hill section, it is to their interes to have that quarter fill up with people and make traffic for them. They can not afford to hold settlement back along

If the transfer system on the Second street line takes more people out that way than they can readily accommo

Temple street line, and that will relieve them of the extra pressure

Meanwhile the people will travel where they please, with equal facilities in every direction. If large numbers of them choose to ride out into the hills.

especially on Sunday, it shows that they are interested in that part of town and enjoy the ride. This tendency to put the public in leading strings and say to it "You must go this way; you shall not go that way," is unfair on the face of it, and is not good business policy. The province of street railway lines is to carry people where they want to go, and give them equal facilities to go in every direction. This policy builds up traffic; the opposite policy discourages it and reduces revewith entire propriety the Garrulous Old Monometallist. Ir Grover had a few more people in his Cabinet as big as Secretary Bissell so much. Now that Riverside has a county, perhaps it will confine its attention more to raising oranges than to so much - as it has of late.

SPEAKING about pulls, Mgr. Satelli appears to have one with the Pope that is equal to that famous one which Chris Buckley had in Calfornia in his palmiest

Ir their pictures in the papers are not libelous, some of the "ladies of the Cabinet," who are to have a four years' vogue in Washington, have faces on them that would stop clocks.

THE man who won one of the prizes as a guesser of the personnel of Cleveland's Cabinet, would be worth a large salary in a packing-house guessing at the weight of hogs and other live stock.

THE Arizona Gazette says: "Spoils are not the object of party organizations, but they are convenient incidents." And the great unwashed are out for the "convenient incidents" in droves.

Few more gory conflicts have been waged anywhere on this continent than now engages the people of Oakland over the election of a mayor and other municipal officers. The newspapers are in the very thick of the fray, and the fur is flying along the bay shore something awful. What a lot of jail birds everybody up that way appears to be!

THE man with a mission, G. Cleveland, will now be waited upon by the men who are hankering for other jobs of that kind. The great officeseeking State of the Golden West seems to have its representatives on the ground in hordes, who have not only unseemly appetites, but a nerve that is simply superb. But just watch how Grover'll fool 'em.

Ir takes a good deal to throw the average Englishman off his base, but the supernatural shaking-up some of them got yesterday in Kent, as reported in our dispatches of this morning, was more than their finite comprehension could grasp, and they struck out for dear life to the fields, leaving their nouse hold gods behind them.

THE death of Prof. H. A. Taine, of the College of France, at Paris, yesterday, as telegraphed this morning to THE TIMES, will be a sad surprise to many Americans, to whom he was well known. He was what might be termed an Anglo-American Frenchman, and, to this extent, a marked exception to his countrymen, whose boast is they do not desire to know anything of any country but their own. He was one of the very few educated Frenchmen who sould speak, read and write English as well as his mother tongue.

A FOUR-BY-NINE newspaper, printed out in the wild and wooly region where the famous Kicker circulates, closes a 'funereal wail' over the Republican party in these choice phrases: "Let the old hulk die-let it turn up its toes to the roots of the daisies and give place o the clean, honest, manly efforts of Brover Cleveland." A/"hulk" giving way to "manly efforts" is certainly uite proper, as seen from the stand-pint that appears to be the correct bing, grammatically and otherwise, appears to prevail in much pro ion and stuff in the region where the onster dozes in the sun and the antula bosses the layout.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

ATTRACTIONS TONIGHT .- The Calhoun Opera Company begins a week's engagement at the Los Angeles Theater this evening. presenting Richard Stahl's bright and witty opera Said Pasha. The company is claimed to be remarkably evenly balanced, giving a well-rendered rendition of great excellence. The chorus is pronounced especially good, both male and female voice pecially good, not maine and remaine voices being carefully selected, the young women being graceful, shapely and attractive of face, as well as clever dancers. Laura Millard, the prima donna of the organiza-tion, has already been here with other comtion, has already been here with other com-panies, and is remembered as a singer who won lavish praise for voice and method. Martin Pache was last seen here with Emma Juch, singing, among other rôles, that of 'Lohengrin,' in Wag-ner's great opera, and hence he does not appear as a stranger to a Los Angeles audience.

ery successful engagement The Park Theater management has underscored Bret Hartle's famous story, M'liss. for this week's attraction, and the piece should have a big run. It is full of bright things, songs dances and clever comedy features. New scenery and properties will also add to the attractiveness of the production, which will have a fitting setting out at the hands of Georgie Woodthrope, Fred Cooper and the other members of the usually capable company at that theater.

New Turnverein Hall, The Turnverein Society have not yet elected a site for their new hall, and are making a very careful investigation before purchasing. There is considerable competition between various sections to secure the building, which will be a credit to the city, and there is a disposition to offer them extra inducements. Among the sites offered is one on North Broadway, on the west side of the street, near the Courthouse, which is considered very desirable by many of the members, as it is near th business center and convenient to all the street railways. The lot has a frontage of 110 feet, with a depth of frontage of 110 feet, with a depth of 165 feet. The price asked is said to be $22,000, equal to $200 a front foot, which is less than one-third the price asked for property in the next block on the same street. At the price quoted the property is certainly a bargain, and, while the building would be a big thing for the section in which the property is located, it would also be a good thing for the Turners.

Many Vacant Seats at the Various Houses of Worship.

An Excellent Sermon Yesterday Morning by Rev. Mr. Campbell.

The Quaker Evangelist at Simpson Church Sick Children's Toy Mission-Pacific Gospel Union-Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Many pews were vacant yesterday wing to the storm. At the First Meth odist Church, however, there was a good-sized congregation, and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Camphell, preached an ex-cellent sermon. In the evening the up-per and lower auditoriums were well filled, and the discourse, though founded on the text "And to die is gain," was not a funeral sermon or one which lett a sad impression on the congregation. Dr. Campbell, in the course of marks, referred to the general gloomy ideas people have of death, and the ideas or a dark, deep river which flows twixt here and eternity. As Bishop Haven lay dying he said: "There is no river." Alfred Cookman exclaimed, "I am sweeping through the gates." Death is but the unfolding of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the soul into a glorious eternity; it will bring to us a large of the word, a Christian gentleman, who carries his Christianity into daily life and business get to do. glorious eternity; it will bring to us a larger association of the things which

ARIZONA'S RESOURCES.

Revival of the Lumber Interests of the Territory. What a Prominent Capitalist of Flagstaff Says of the Outlook-Sheep-raising

Also Beoming a Prominent Feature-Mining Industry.

Hon. Edward M. Doe of Flagstaff, Ariz., who, with Mrs. Doe, yesterday left for San Diego after a two days' visit in Los Angeles, reports that the lumber industry of Northern Arizona is again reviving, and that the extensive saw mills there are putting on an increased number of men both in the mills and in the timber.

"The sheep industry in Coconino county is becoming a very important feature, while the range cattle are in much better condition in that county than in other places of Arizona or New Mexico," said Mr. Doe.

"A great craze was started among all classes of people in our country when the great copper discoveries were made in the Grand Cañon region, and increased as the gold finds in the San Francisco mountains, near Flagstaff, were reported, while the people became wild at the reports from the San Juan gold placer country. Indeed, the Coco-nino county man who has not one or more mining claims in one or another of those locations, either by personal location or through friends, is a rarity location or through friends, is a rarity who would excite disdain from every one.

"The mines at San Juan were a 'fake." The copper mines of the Grand Cañon country are simply wonderful, but are so isolated as to be useless at present. The gold mines in the San Francisco Mountains are reported by responsible people who have been at work on their development, as being very rich, but the veins are small and the rock hard a porphyry that is so mineralized as to be almost flinty in character. There have been some late discoveries of rich chlordes on the rim on the Grand Canon in the vicinity of Hance's trail, that from all reports must prove very valuable oroperties.

"The great trouble with that country, however," concluded Mr. Doe, "is the great distances of these properties from sources of supply and demand, which makes it difficult and expensive to the prospector and miner to secure nd other necessaries or dispose of his ores. This will be remedied only by the onstruction of a railway to that

"Apropos of a railway to the north from Flagstaff, a scheme is now on foot, by a syndicate of Chicago capitalists, to construct a narrow-gauge railway to the rim of the Grand Cañon of the Colorado, where, near the old Hance trail, a large hotel will be built, costing $250,000, the purpose being to estab-lish a resort right at one of the grand-est natural wonders of the world—the Grand Cañon. The road will be constructed on a 'backbone,' or rather series of backbones, connecting the several ridges that radiate from the base of the San Francisco mountains, and through the finest and heaviest mountain yellow pine timber in this country. The syndicate has several objects building this road; immense sawmills will be established along the route, the mining regions penetrated either by the main line or by spurs, and the sheep and cattle ranges traversed, besides taking the hundreds of thousands of tourists to the hotel and Grand Cañon. tourists to the hotel and Grand Cañon, who will come in swarms, in the summer time especially. The personnel of the syndicate is made up from Michigan lumber men including Gen. Russell A. Alger; by the Santa Fé Railway, with A. A. Robinson, the present general manager and prospective successor of Mr. Manvel, as representative; also the great bankers, Drexel, Morgan & Co., who are making heavy investments in mines. are making heavy investments in mines. It has been reported that John W. Mackay was identified with the movement, but that has been denied. It is pretty certain that something will ma-terialize from the many conferences these people have had while considering the reports from the work they have had done in surveying and other 'prospecting' of the resources of the country and practicability of the scheme."

SACRAMENTO.

The Godchaux Amendment and Senator Carpenter.

The Measure Will Not Be Submitted to the People.

What Looks Like a Deal on the Whittier Appropriation Bill.

Again Passed on the File in the Senate-A Flimsy Scheme to Influence Legislation-The Date of Final Adjournment.

Special Correspondence of The Times.

SACRAMENTO, March 4.—The Godchaux amendment to the Constitution, which passed the House amid turmoil and disorder late vesterday afternoon, will never be submitted to the people The Senate, under the lead of S. P. Carpenter, will certainly kill it. The proposed amend meut is rather a profuse document, prepared under the diection of the Traffic Association, and gives a long and short distance tariff of freights and fares, based on those in use in some of the older States. As amended, it exempts railroads earning less than $4000 a mile. It may not be perfect, but the submission of such a table of rates to the people would be an eye-opener, to say the least, on the subect of railroad rates. The people of California would then realize by com-parison how they have been bled heretofore by the giant monopoly. But there is little danger that the Senate, under the lead of Carpenter, will allow the people to educate themselves on this subject.

The Democratic members of the House are jubilant tonight. They claim that even though the Legislature has, so far, not given the people any relief, the House, at least, has made a record. In this they were aided by most of the People's party men, and by sufficient anti-monopoly Republicans to give the necessary two-thirds votes of all the members elected. Several Re-publicans, who voted against the Godchaux resolutions explained themselves afterward, and claimed that the measure was impracticable.

About the same time that the Godchaux resolution was being discussed in the House, the Southern Pacific was taking a reef in its sails on the other side of the Capitol. Carpenter sub mitted an amendment to substitute the year 1882 for 1884 wherever the lat ter date occurred in his reassessment substitute, which had passed the Sen substitute, which had passed the Senate a few days ago. This was quite a surprise, and is looked upon as a backdown on the part of the corporation. The original Reassessment Bill, as carried in the House, calls for the payment of uncollected taxes since year 1879. The House is not expected to concur, and the people will have to to concur, and the people will have to elect another Legislature before those back taxes are paid.

The Whittier Appropriation Bill was again passed on file in the Senate. There is a play going on beneath the surface in regard to the Whittier school, but our Senators are on the watch, and, notwithstanding heavy odds, are confident of winning

It is now positively known that Sena-tor Bailey of Santa Clara is the espe-cial champion of Pomona in the Senate. Senator Bailey is also the especial champion of the scheme to remove the girls' department from Whittier to the unused building at Santa Clara. Mr. Androus represents the Assembly dis-trict in which the Whittier school is located. Mr. Androus introduced the Whittier Appropriation Bill in the House originally. The votes in the House on the Santa Clara bill, and the votes in the Senate on the San Antonio measure will show whether any trade between these two has been made, as reported. It must be admitted from present appearances that it looks very much like a swap between San Antonio and Santa Clara.

A very peculiar circumstance which gives color to the above suspicion happened before the House Ways and Means.Committee last night. While the committee was in session a rumor was industriously circulated that the Senate had just passed the Whittier Appropriation Bill, but had stricken out the $65,000 item referring to the girl's dormitory. The committee was considering the Whittier appropriation at the time, and Mr. Androus, as Assemblyman from the district involved, was in attendance. The committee, as a rule, were in favor of Whittier, but when this piece of intelligence was wafted upon them they witted, and all except Mr. Kerns succumbed to what they supposed was the inevitable. Mr. Androus remarked that the sirls could not live on wind. that the girls could not live on wind, and if there was no appropriation he supposed the girls would have to go. Mr. Kerns steadily held out, and when it was put to a vote in the committee whether they should recommend the Santa appropriation or not Farmer. Clara appropriation or not Farmer Kerns of Downey had the satisfaction of alone voting no. Whatever else has been or may be said of Mr. Kerns, it must be admitted that he has been as true to Southern California's interests in the Whittier matter as he was when he voted for Stephen M. White for United States Senator.

The scheme, or whatever it was, in tended to influence legislation through tended to influence legislation through false information, was even further carried out. In this morning's Record-Union the false news appeared in all its brazen insolence. None of the San Francisco paper's nor the Associated Press, however, "got hold" of it. Had the latter agency telegraphed the news. the latter agency telegraphed the news far and wide the members' desks would have been covered with protests this sensus of opinion is that Tuesda March 14, will be the day agreed upo In the Senate, the entire afternoon was consumed in the final passage of the Reassessment Bill as amended. was consumed in the mail passage of the Reassessment Bill as amended. The discussion was agrimonious, and much bad feeling was engendered. One of the results is that Senator Burke of Santa Cruz, who, since the beginning of the session, has arrayed him-self on the side of the people against the Southern Pacific, now ap-pears on the record as a railroad man. It happened in this way: The stood 26 in favor to 11 against. By was one of the eleven, and before vote was announced arose in seat and changed his vote from no to aye. It was his evident intention to move a reconsideration. And every one who heard him believed that such was Burke's reason. But as soon as the vote was announced, and while Burke was standing, a half dozen railroad Senators sprang up with motions to adjourn, and one of them was recognized by President Reddick. Burke clamored for recognition, but he remained unchserved, and the adjournment was carried by a wild chorus of railroad yells, thus forcing Burke to appear on the record hereafter as a

Southern Pacific man.

The Kings County Bill was defeated in the House late this afternoon by about three votes. This is one of the surprises of the session, as the Kings county crowd were supposed to be well supplied with "the stuff." ROBIN.

AN OLD LADY'S CAP.

[From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent. Here is a picture of a hat or cap for an elderly lady. It is most becoming and fully protects the head. Inexperi enced hands can easily make such a hat. The small frill in front is made by doubling the material twice, and then pleating it somewhat in the form of a baby's cap. It has to be stiffened by some firm material. In order to make the brim of the hat about fifty-six inches of stuff is required, nine and three-quarter inches wide, which at the ends is gradus rowed off to four and inches, and is pleated at of about one inch or so over wire, which keeps it in shape. The frill must only stand a little out beyond the flat- foundation, and must be lined with velvet. The brim of the hat is fastened with narrow strings. The outside trimming is made of black lace with a large tuft of violets. The bow and ends are of grosgrain ribbon about two inches wide. A kind fate seems to have at last invented a fashion that helps out the un-fortunate stoop-shouldered girl. It is a short jacket that hangs loose in the back and is cut straight across to a length that makes it come about half way to the waist line. It is a loose Spanish jacket by so much, and yet not one at all, because it is splk up the back almost to the collar, and shows the bodice beneath the triangular opening. Many a girl who simply cannot get a straight, smooth line across the shoulders, whose figure in spite of her dressmaker and her own wishes never looks well, in spite of good hips and a siender waist, has now a chance. Be-tween the perpendicular straightness and the lateral spring the secret of the round shoulders may be kept, and the waist seems all the more slender. Such a jacket should, of course, be either of heavy stuff and well lined or closely embroidered or beaded, that it may hold its stiffness.

far and wide the members' desks would have been covered with protests this morning. As it was a few telegrams were received by several representatives.

Senator Biggy of San Francisco, who has acted in splendid faith in this matter, says the girls shall not be moved. He says that while he was south investigating this matter the Santa Clarans got in their work, but now that he is back again he proposes to get in his work. He claims to have polled the House, and feels confident that the Santa Clara bill will never pass the Assembly. Senator Mathews is not asleep in this matter, either. The Senator has the benefit of previous legislative experience, and it has not been thrown away on him.

'The Governor's veto of Mr. Bledsoe's ten-hour-a-day lumberman's bill occupied the time of the House this morning. After much talking and roll-calls, the Governor was sustained. The Simpson measure, providing that the State publish the Supreme Court decisions, and sell them at actual cost, which was also vetoed, was made the special order for next Tuesday, at 2 p.m.

The House this afternoon took a tumble, and fired the useless clerks and attaches. It now looks like a final adjournment on March 14. Several resolutions are now under consideration mentioning different dates, but the consideration in the first at the base of the head life first at the base of the coil been drawn close and tucked away so that the base of the coil been drawn close and tucked away so that the base of the coil been drawn close and tucked away so that the base of the awkwardness of the defect will be

FIRST STREET.

A Company Organized for Its Improvement.

Meeting to Be Held This Evening to Perfect Details.

A General Outline of the Plan as Agreed Upon.

The Shepherd Property to be Purchase and the Hill Cut Through-A Handsome Profit on the Deal

A meeting of the company organized for the improvement of First street by cutting down the hill and putting the street on grade will be held at the University Bank, corner of First street and Broadway, this afternoon, when the final details of the work will be perfected and active operations menced at once. The men behind the enterprise mean business, and no time lost. The plan has been worked out on a business basis, and, beside the improvement of the street, which is regarded as a great public benefit, there is also a handsome profit in sight. The City Council, it is understood, will assist in the matter, and, as already over $30,000 of the stock has been subscribed, success is assured. As the enterprise is one in which every citizen and property-owner is vitally inter-ested, the following brief outline of the plan as agreed upon will be of general interest:

The First Street Improvement Com-The First Street Improvement Company will be the name of the organization, and it will have a capital stock of $100,000, divided into 1000 shares of $100 each, for the purpose of selling and mortgaging real estate and otherwise borrowing money and taking mortgages on grading, improving and otherwise bonding and dealing in real estate and grading streets in the city of Los Angeles.

First, it is proposed to purchase the property of Mrs. Shepherd which fronts 250 feet on First street, 120 feet on Hill and 180 feet on Olive, and that of Mrs. S. A. Wicks and M. L. Wicks, Jr., which has a frontage on First street of 208 feet and 800 feet on Grand avenue, paying for the Shepherd property. 208 feet and 300 feet on Grand avenue, paying for the Shepherd property $19,000 and for the Wicks $16,000. On this it is proposed to assess the capital stock 20 per cent and pay one-third of the purchase price; that is, $11,666 cash, the balance to be settled by payments to average two and three years equally. The estimated cost of grading the property proposed to be purchased and grade First street from Broadway to Grand avenue, from First street to Courthouse, and Olive street from First street to Courthouse is $35,000, making a total cost of $70,000.

The property graded is valued as follows: Lot 200x100 feet on the north side of First street, eighty feet being graded level with the street, $20,000; 50x100 feet on the northeast corner of First and Olive streets, $6000; 75x150 feet on east side of Olive, to the thirty-foot alley, $5675; 120x150 feet on the west side of Hill street, $8800; 208x84 feet on the south side of First street, graded level with the street, $22,880; 300x165 feet on east side of Grand avenue, $13,200. The amount received on grading First street amount received on grading First street from Olive to Grand avenue was $1800; frem Olive to Grand avenue was $1800; on grading Grand avenue from First to Courthouse, $3850; on grading Olive street, 960 feet at $1.50 per foot, $1440; received for the present house and extra dirt, $1500; as bonus from the city, $15,000; total amount received, $99,645. Deducting 5 per cent. on $72,755 for expenses of selling property, gives $3637.75; the purchase price of the real estate being $85.000, the interest. say $25.000. $85,000, the interest, say $25,000, at 8 per cent. for two years amounts to $4000; deducting for incidentals, on all except real estate sales, 10 per cent. gives $3500, leaving profits of $18, 508.25, which is more than 90 per cent: profit on the investment.

ARIZONA NEWS.

Notes from Phoenix—Legislative Doings— The Business Outlook

March S .- In the Council. Edwards of Gila made a lengthy and spirited speech in favor of his bill amending the statutes requiring plaintiffs to give bond in civil cases securing costs. He took the position that the poverty of the plaintiff often prevented his securing justice, as costs were heavy and often difficulty was encountered in getting indorsers.

TO PUNISH CATTLE THIEVING. The Legislature of Arizona is exceptional in this, that it is working zeal ously, earnestly and in good faith, with but one object in view: the advancement of the interests of the people for whom it is making laws. Among the measures offered is one by Mr. Mehan of Southern Pima, which changes the law of larceny, adopted here from the code of California, which makes the stealing of any domestic animal grand larceny. This provision of the law, which, in California is perhaps frotective of the property of cattlemen, has, in the Territory, been found to have the reverse effect. Here, when a man at distance from a county-seat has, in the Territory, been found to have the reverse effect. Here, when a man at a distance from a county-seat—and in the Territory the distances are magnificent—steals a calf or sheep or hog of the value of say $3, the act being a felony, the owner, in an effort to punish the offender, is subjected to great expense, and the penalty being so great the offenders are invariably acquitted, and so the law fails as an example; whereas, reducing all larceny, as the proposed bill does, to a money value of $50, the offense is triable by the nearest magistrate, the offender punished by fine or imprisonment in the county jail, or both, and the petty thieves are deterred by the example.

The Committee on Territorial Institutions has already visited the Normal School at Tempe, and reports that it is run in first class style, but that there is not adequate accommodations for the popular and growing training-school. Yuma will next be visited, and, if the report should favor it, there will be an effort to conform with the Governor's recommendation, and move it to some other locality where the convicts cannot profitably be employed in irrigation. It is proposed to remove it to the northern part of the Territory, where building-stone is plentiful, or to the onyx mine near Pheenix.

Speech-making in the House is hardly thought of during the ordinary session, everything having been fixed or fought out in the committee. This committee work has so accumulated that the Assembly has adjourned from Thursday till Monday.

THE ORANGE MARKET.

Correspondence Between Local Shippers and Eastern Dealers.

Action of the Earl Fruit Company in Try ing to Control the Market-Carrying Fruit in Stock at Kansas City-A Growers' View.

The break in the orange market caused by the virtual disruption of the Riverside association has caused a gen eral feeling of uneasiness among the growers of Southern California, and there has been considerable correspondence with Eastern firms engaged in the business, in the desire to secure reliable information as to the present condition of the market, and the outlook for the future. Following is a copy of a letter received by a firm in this city from its Kansas City correspondent, under date of February 25:

from its Kansas City correspondent, under date of February 25:

Regarding Earl and his carrying oranges in stock here, we have to say that he has certainly caused himself to be boycotted by the large dealers in oranges. They say now that they will have nothing whatever to do with him this season, but his carrying the fruit here, and selling to small dealers in ten to twenty box lots at California f.o.b prices and freight added, places these same parties in exactly the position to compete with the larger dealers without having to purchase in car lots. In this way, if he carries a very large stock right along, he may be able to dictate the policy of the dealers in this market. We have made different arrangements for the handling and disposition of our fruit, namely, among the wholesale grocers in this city, who have a great many traveling representatives through the territory. We make them prices and give them a discount off of these prices sufficient to pay them for pushing this business; we carry the stock for them and allow them to get it as they wish. Just as soon as the business opens up our California fruit, and Floridas are out of the way, we expect that these grocers will handle the fruit in great quantities, and buy from us, and we want you to place us in a position on Los Angeles and that grade of fruit, so as to always be ready to supply their wants. We also have in the adjoining territory dealers who don't buy in car lots, whose trade we will cater to, and expect to get our share of. Will say that we don't fear Earl at all, as far as selling the fruit in car lots f.o.b, believing that we are in a much better position, and on more friendly terms with the commission men and fruit dealers in this market. We will, from time to time, as fast as it comes to our notice, give you all the information we can regarding the market here, and what our competitors are doing, and we want to impress upon your mind that when you receive a message from us, or a letter, regarding the market here, and what our competitors the top of the market, and thereby make the business mutually profitable.

The following was also received from the same parties on February 28:

We learn today that there are some Sicily oranges in transit to this point; that they will rule at $2.25 to $2.50 here. We don't know what effect they will have upon our market. We don't fear, however, that our market will become demoralized on account of this fruit.

We had sales of, a couple of cars of Floridas today at auction, and fruit brought from $2.15 to $2.30; sold mostly to peddlers, as our larger buyers have more or less fruit in transit and did not attend the sales.

The following from a local grower indicates the feeling in this section:

Los Angeles, March 4, 1893.—[To the Editor of The Times.] It is with considerable interest that I have noticed the correspondence in your paper by and between the orange-growers of this and neighboring counties relative to the best manner in which their fruit can be handled, and objecting to the proceedings of certain members of the Riverside combination. We do not hear as much now about the enormbus profits of orange-growing as we did a few years ago, when a producer sold his fruit in open market to competitive buyers, and when such competition forced the dealers to pay within a very small amount of the price they obtained for the goods.

When the present combination was formed, the knowledge of it spread East as well as among the buyers of this State, discouraging any of them from attempting to buy fruit on the trees, as they have done in former years, and the large houses, through their emissaries and agents, encouraged the combination idea, supplementing it by one to the effect that the goods should be handled on commission by them.

the season of '91 had run prices up to such a figure that the margin of profit to the shipper was very slight, but all of this worked for the benefit of the grower, who, on account of the competition, realized fine prices for his fruit and had no trouble in marketing it. The large dealers seeing their profits cut down to a very small amount, have encouraged the combination and commission idea among the growers, thinking they could make more money by handling the fruit this way than they could by buying it outright, but common sense would teach any intelligent observer that if the profits are larger those of the grower are so much less are larger those of the grower are so much less

It seems suicidal to deter buyers from coming to our State and competing for the fruit as it is grown on the trees simply that a few large dealers, whose watchword is "commission," who have amiassed a fortune by such methods, and who, as long as they live, will probably sing the same old song of "Let us handle your fruit on commission and we will do better by you than we can by buying it outright."

Active competition among buyers has always resulted in the grower obtaining highest prices for his product, when in nearly every instance where buyers have been frightened off by combinations among the growers the latter have been obliged to take the lowest possible prices for their product.

No one man is going to buy fruit and compete against nine men who have the bulk of it tied up on consignment, and who may at any time force the combination which they represent to cut prices far below those he has contracted to pay the grower.

The orange producers of this State will

The orange producers of this State will never get full value for their fruit until they invite competition for the purchase of same, and while occasional years may show good results, the policy of consigning the fruit if followed long enough will bankrupt every man that does it. The money that is paid the grower by the buyer for his fruit adds so much to the wealth of the State, and the producer knows just what amount he can depend upon, while on a consignment basis exaggerated hopes are fostered which in few instances are ever realized. As a producer myself and a friend of all such, I say let us invite all possible buyers here, get all we can for our fruit before it leaves our hands and know just what we are doing. Yours,

A. PRODUCER.

Earl is still cutting loose on his fruit and selling it at almost any price. He sold Los Angeles seedlings here as low as $1.65. We understand that he has been doing this kind of business generally throughout the country, and we have heard that his object has been to demoralize the business throughout the country, and we have heard that his object has been to demoralize the business throughout the country, and we have heard that his object has been to demoralize the business throughout the country, and we have heard that his object has been to demoralize the business throughout the country with such prices, so as to get the growers in California scared, and, fearing that they will not be able to move their fruit, prices, he expect, will then rule very low, and he will jump in and buy up great quantities or contract for the control of them. We don't know whether there is anything in this at all, but it is information that was given so warning, has no symptoms, other than those above staced, and yet it is the market, and what we hear at this end of the line.

THE great trouble with cheap silks is they are filled with jute, and while you get a seemingly low priced silk that looks well, they are very expensive by the time you get through with them. Pure silk is almost everlasting in wear. The coloring matter used destroys, to a more or less extent, the wearing qualities of the silk. Then a great many silks are sized up and this makes them harsh and easy to wrinkle, and gives them a shaggy appearance when they become a little rum. pled. Silk to wear well should be soft to the hand. They should be made of pure silk and not loaded with sizing and dye stuffs. The Cheney Bros.' India Silks are soft to the hand. They are made of pure silk. The threads are evenly and well twisted, and no deleterious dye stuffs are used. This gives them excellent wearing qualities and makes them one of the very best for all uses. It is merit we endeavor to establish in our big dress goods department, as well as confidence. It is like stepping into a new world when you compare our present dress goods department to the one of a year ago, not only in quality but in quantity, as well as a very large increase in sales. Every line is complete. The 25 cent line is complete. The 30 cent line is complete, as well as the line at 35 cents, at 40 cents, at 50 cents, on up to $1.00 a yard. Goods over a dollar a yard we have touched lightly. Experience has taught us that 200 patterns are sold at a dollar a yard where five patterns are sold at $2.00 a yard. Fancy dress patterns at $30.00 to $50.00 each are beautiful to look at. People admire them and then buy the dollar goods. Goods at 50c, 75c, $1.00 a yard is where big buying centers, and these lines are very large in the big 100 feet of dress goods selling. The full line of colors is here. The full line of styles is considered, and the best are selected in the fancy weaves, and you can buy choice styles for 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, 85c, 90c and a dollar a yard. The same goods put up in dress lengths would cost you 50 per cent. more money. We study your interests as well as our own, and the result is trade doubling up in the big dress goods department, now by far the largest in sales, and the largest in extent of any in the city. Sale of all our best brand of kid gloves at $1.25 a pair. They have been $2.25, $2.00 and $1.75. Now the choice for $1.25 a pair.

SPORTING NEWS.

The Outlook for the California Ball Season.

The Clubs in Training for the Opening Series of Games.

The American Derby Has Reached the Top Notch.

Richest Race of Its Character in the History of the Turf-Something About "Maj." Griffin-Starr and Goldsmith.

The managers are getting in shape for the baseball season in California, which opens now in three weeks. The Los Angeles team is to report in San Diego, and it is believed will put up winning ball from the start. Glenalvin is a strict disciplinarian, and will hold his men up to the rack. The Northern clubs are in active training, and the managers say they intend to give the best ball ever seen on the Coast. So far experts are of the opinion that the Los Angeles club is the strongest in the League, and if it comes up to expectation there is no question as to where the pennant will land. THE OUTLOOK IN THE EAST.

Public feeling is evidently very strong against the recommendation of the Rules Committee to put the pitcher back to sixty-three feet from the home plate. This proposed change is such an extraordinary one that I cannot for one moment think the league magnates will ever indorse it, says Pringle in the Pittsburgh dispatch. Every prominent baseball anthority who has spoken on the matter since the committee's statement appeared is opposed to this radical change. It is, therefore, safe to say the change will not be made as proposed. Baseball has not arrived at its present stage by a process of radical and extraordinary changes. The development has been gradual, just as the development of all safe and sure processes is gradual. As I contended last week, there is nothing to recommend the proposed change except the desire to have one that I cannot for one posed change, except the desire to have it. League directors and the league generally should be extremely careful on this point. Depend upon it, this is no time to make experiments with the game.

The other recommendations have been tolerably well received, and it is likely that they will be accepted with little or no change.

The general outlook for the coming season is gradually getting better. The reorganization of the New York club has made everybody hopeful. Manager Ward has commenced work in earnest, and states that he will at once correspond with all the players of the club. spond with all the players of the club, informing them of the big cut in salaries. Sensible players, who want to remain in the business, will do well to bow to the inevitable with good grace. Those who object to having their salaries reduced as proposed, can do the "other thing," that is, let the salary and havehall alone. and baseball alone. THE AMERICAN DERBY.

With a guaranteed value of $50,000 to the winner, the American Derby of the present year reaches the front as the richest race of its character in turf history, says the Chicago Herald. The Epsom Derby and the Victoria Derby in Australia have each in their time been lifted to the $30,000-line, while the French Derby and Grand Prix, the classic events of France, have also reached about that figure. Save the Eclipse stakes in England a few years ago no three-year-old race has vet equaled in value the amount to be raced for in the American Derby this summer, and, bar the Futurity, no other race for horses of any age approaches it in value. In 1864 the first Derby of any moment run in America was decided at Patterson, N. J. The victor proved to be Norfolk, known to the present generation of turf-followers as the sire of the mighty El Rio Rey. Since that year nearly every recognized race track in America at one time or another has had a Derby, but the closest approach of any of these races in value, as compared to the Chi-its limit by over $30,000.

This prize closed in October, 1891, with 325 nominations. Since then 176 have withdrawn, leaving 149 eligible to make up the actual field at starting of which number twenty-nine non-starters in 1892. This aves 120 candidates to be accounted, of which only forty-two were non-winners as two-year-olds, and thirty-three of the seventy-eight winners of races were stake colts and fillies.

The table below covers the history of this classic race since its inception in 1884. Only one sire, Grinstead, has to his credit as many as two winners— Volante and Silver Cloud—while Modesty is the only filly that ever won the prize. Three times it has been won by performers owned by the California turfman, E. J. Baldwin, and on two other occasions his representatives have finished second. The highest weight ever carried by a winner was that borne to victory by Emperor of Norfolk in 1888, he having 128 pounds up, while the closest a maiden in his two-year-old form has come to winning was in 1888 and 1891, when Falcon and Poet Scout ran second respectively. With the exception of Uncle Bob, all the lucky horses that have cap-tured this race were stake winners in their two-year-old form. With the ex-ception of 1886, 1887 and 1888, the race has always been run on a heavy of trotting horses, has secured the great daughter of Alcantara, Miss Alice, 2:174, owned by Maj. S. T. Dickinson of New York, to campaign during the season of 1893. Miss Alice is regarded as the handsomest mare in the country, and good judges predict that she will take a race record of 2:12 or better.

John A. Goldsmith of Washington-ville, than whom there is no more competent or trustworthy driver, is also petent or trustworthy driver, is also adding to the remarkable string that he will go down the line with, the latest acquisition being the promising young horse Island Wilkes, owned by E. BASEBALL IN ENGLAND.

Baseball has become so popular in England that there is now talk of an international series of games between our Johnny Bull brethren and ourselves The interest in our national sport is very great in England, and already an association has been formed. The only drawback is the fact that a code of rules cannot be finally settled upon.

Cardiff and Gloucester, both the homes of England's national sport, cricket, have fallen in line, and are procricket, have fallen in line, and are promoters of the American rules governing the game, but Liverpool holds out for a new set, just why they don't even know themselves. But no doubt matters will be amicably settled in the near future. Cricket is a long-drawnout affair, and the lovers of quick near lattire. MERELY TALKING THROUGH HIS HAT. T. H. Griffin alias "Maj. Griffin," left Los Angeles for the East last Tuesday. He must have been a wonderful drive and trainer, for he actually claims to have given Little Albert, Maud, Nim-rod, Pearl, Dr. Swift, Edwin C., Red-wood, Maudee and Holly their lowest records. The reporter to whom he imparted this information never knew the "Major" as well as the people of Santa Rosa, Napa and Petaluma; if he did, he would never have published the above item.—[Breeder and Sportsman.

SPORTING NOTES. Ed Hanlan and Wallace Ross are matched to row for the American championship on May 30, next. Walter Sanger, the Milwaukee racer, will sail for England about May 31. He will compete in the English bicycle championship. Sidney and Simmocolon, the famous stallions, are together again, as both are now the property of George Hammond of Detroit.

Monroe Salisbury will be ready to meet Arion or any colt in a class race with Directum this summer. Direc-

Gen. Worth, A. H. Moore's threeyear-old brother of Sunol, 2:08¼, while not of such striking physique as his celebrated sister, bears a close resemblance to her. He has never been trained, but may be this season.

The candidates for Columbia College's intercollegiate track athletic team be-gan work last week. The college has more good material to choose from than for many years, and will doubtless make a good showing at the champion ships.

Robert Kerr and Donald McGuire two Scotch cyclists, are to make a trip across Australia, from Melbourne to Port Darwin. The route is said to be beset with many risks and dangers. The pair made a tour of all Europe about a year ago.

The Lincolnshire handicap, to be run March 21, will be the first important flat race of the year in England. The betting over the event is already heavy, with Pensioner, 4, 106, and Acrobat, 4, 109, the favorites at 9 to 1 and 20 to 1, respectively.

A sculing race has been arranged between J. J. Dunphy and Henry Witt-koop, members of the Ariel Boating Club, to row a match in single sculls over the Longbridge course of a mile and repeat, on Sunday, the 19th inst., for $100 a side and the amateur championship of the Pacific Coast.

It is rumored in horse circles that John Mackay, superintendent of the Rancho del Paso, will soon leave that famous breeding establishment to take the superintendency of the new breeding farm established in this county by Mr. Read, an Oregon millionaire, who proposes to go into the business of breeding thoroughbreds on an extension

The coming racing season in Montana will be a lively one. Over $80,000 will be hung up in purses and stakes, and every effort is being made to attract good racing stock. All the fox terriers owned by the and prominent breeder, were sold at auction at Cruft's dog show in London. The prices realized were on the whole good. Nearly every breed of dog had a specialist judge, and in only two or three instances did one man judge more than one breed more than one breed.

Residents of the "gravel-pit district" are considerably worked up over the fact that no steps have been taken to fill the excavations which have been made throughout their section in digging for gravel. One of the sufferers has sent the following statement to THE Times, in which the causes of complaint are set forth at length: The City Council and Board of Health are

The City Council's attention has been called to these malaria and cholera-breeding pest holes, and also to the damage being done to property. By a petition signed by more than fifty persons, praying that immediate action be taken to abate this nuisance. At the very meeting when this petition was read and pigeon-boled, the City Council sent out invitations asking for lots that could be parchased for the purpose of making more of these malarial pest holes. We ask the voters and taxpayers—those who pay for government in this city and get none—to think of this; the City Council stubbornly refusing to pass an ordinance abating this nuisance; the City Attorney telling the District Attorney what his duty is in the matter, and the Board of the other than the council of the counc torney telling the District Attorney what his duty is in the matter, and the Board of with Directum this summer. Ball and Entertainment at Hotel Green.

Brilliant Social Occasion-A Rainy Su day in Town-People Coming and Going-Batch of Local Brevities.

It was a happy thought that prompted Manager Holmes to give an entertainment and hop at Hotel Green Saturday evening in honor of inauguration day. Notwithstanding the inclement weather and the fact that this is the Lenten season, when many of the society people absent them-selves from all manner of festivities, the selves from all manner of festivities, the affair was a brilliant social success, and the idea as carried out proved so popular that inauguration day hop may be looked upon as a fixed institution in Pasadena.

The hotel ballroom, famed the State over, was profusely decorated with the national tri-colors, that could not be surpressed in programment.

passed in novelty of arrangement. Long streamers of red, white and blue bunting stretched from the center of the ceiling to the side walls, while the mammoth chande-liers were almost hidden by scores of small flags, around and about which a myriad of electric globes glistened. On the right side of the stage, at the north end of the room, hung a large picture of President Cleveland, while on the opposite was a picture of Mr. Harrison.
The decorations at this end of the room were arranged with rare artistic effect,

The decorations were arranged under the direc-tion of Mrs. Farr, ably assisted by Mrs. Holmes and several of the guests at the hotel. The national colors were also ingeniously displayed on the programmes, which were handed the guests at the main entrance. The title page was handsomely worked in red, white and blue. The second page contained a cast of the characters in Lend Me Five Shillings, while the order of dances appeared on the third page.

By 8 o'clock abundred or more guests had arrived, and when the curtain rose, shortly after, on half a dozen members of the Pasadena Dramatic Club, who had been chosen to interpret the fine points of Maddison Morton's popular little farce, the ballroom was comfortably filled. The cast was as follows: The national colors were also ingeni

Very Serious Charges. On Saturday, February 18, a meeting of the Teachers' Institute was held at the High School in Santa Barbara, which has become locally known as the "lovefeast" on account of the unanimity of sentiment ex pressed by all the participants, the absence of any outward friction and the disparagement of certain absent teachers, in who ment of certain absent teachers, in whose behalf no one jarred the unity of the assemblage by uttering a single defensive word. Upon this occasion the Rev. Philip Thacher made a bitter attack upon the present School Board and certain teachers employed in the public schools, which has provoked a lively discussion in the public print between Judge Stratton and himself. In the course of this discussion Mr. Thacher has made violent and brutal personal at made violent and brutal personal at-tacks and Judge Stratton has not hesitated to openly charge him with repeated false-hood. This controversy is the leading topic of town talk, far eclipsing in interest the meeting of the transcontinental railway this department our school is not accredited, and our students are compelled to spend a whole year making up the deficiency in this department."

In the course of his remarks before the Teachers' Institute, Mr. Thacher made the following statement (copied from notes taken on the spot):

This scathing denunciation directed at Prof. Ostrom created a profound sensation. It was only after the meeting was over, and some thoughtful people recalled the fact that there had never been any examination of our High School or High-school pupils by representatives of the State University; that no one from the university had ever spent more than a few hours in the schools here, and that the members of the university faculty are usually considerate, courteous and just,—that any doubt of the truth of this statement was aroused. It was understood at the time that the "representative of the State University who visited our schools last year," referred to by Mr. Thacher, was Prof. Thomas R. Bacon, who was here a year ago last fall.

Regarding the charge as a most serious one, your correspondent, destrous of reaching the truth in certain conflicting statements concerning our public schools, addressed a letter to Prof. Bacon, in substance as follows:

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

Unusual Interest in the San Bernardino Municipal Campaign.

There Will Be Four Tickets in the Field-Election of Officers of the Riverside Wheelmen-News Notes and Personals.

SAN BERNARDINO.

Unusual interest is being manifested in the municipal campaign now opening, and there are to be four tickets in the field—the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and Citizens' League tickets, with the Populists yet to hear from. The election is one of vast importance at this time, as it involves a large number of points of vital import to this city. Three 'City Trustees are to be elected to serve for a period of four years. The city is now in the fever of a transition from mossback lethargy to modern pro-gressiveness. City improvements have been augurated, which may, on the one hand, swing out into such vast dimensions from the impetus gained as to bring taxes been augurated, which may, on the one hand, swing out into such vast dimensions from the impetus gained as to bring taxes to such an altitude as to send some business concerns into bankruptcy with a disastrous crash; or on the other hand, from the fear entertained by the ultracautious be brought so abruptly to a standstill as to raise suspicions among citizens and visiting investors as to the stability of the city affairs, causing a wavering, vascillating policy to be inaugurated. There are advocates of both these policies and aspirants for the positions who hold one or the other of these views. Then there is a large body of men who believe that the present policy of progress in public improvements should be maintained to a large degree, but be so modified as to bring the public expenses low enough to cause the burden of taxation to be reduced somewhat. The adherents to this view of the solution are increasing in numbers, since there is likely to be a heavy county tax if the present policy of the county government is to be continued. This condition of affairs has been a prime factor in securing the formation of the Citizens' League, which promises to play a very important part in the spring election. There are also to be elected this year three members of the City School Board, and the controversy over the candidates for this honor promises to be fully as spirited as that over the City Trustees, and with as great reason. In school affairs, too, the city has taken a very advanced stand, but not without opposition. The City School Board has upheld them in their efforts to advance the interests of the schools in the city, until now the system followed with the spirit of the age in educational methods and practices, and the present School Board has upheld them in their efforts to advance the interests of the schools in the city, until now the system followed here and the results attained under it have caused San Bernardino to be recognized among educators of not only Southerr California, but of all parts of the Uni

A Further Investigation Into the Death of Faca Costillo.

spicions That She Was the Victim Foul Play-A Remarkable Change in the Northern Part of the County.

Although an inquest over the remains of Faca Costillo of Tustin pas been held, and the verdict of the jury was to the effect that deceased came to her death from spasms caused by child-birth, yet there are a great many ugly rumors afloat, and there is a possibility of a further investigation being made.

The husband of the dead woman was away from home at the time of her death.

away from home at the time of her death, and when he came home he was beastly drunk In company with another Mexican. who was also very drunk, he came to this city for the purpose of getting a coffin for his dead wife, but he had imbibed so freely nis dead wife, but he had imbibed so freely of the flowing bowl that it was several hours before he could perform the errand for which he had come. During the Coroner's inquest all those who seemed to have any interest whatever in the sad ending of the young woman were very reticent, and would only talk when they felt they were obliged to. Coroner By stated to the Times representative yesterday that the case was a very mysterious one, to say the least, and that he found it almost impossible to get any reliable information from those who were present at the time of the death of the woman. This disposition, however, is characteristic of the Mexican people in Orange county. They seem to have no regard for an American oath, and, as a rule, have no scruple against committing perjury. They seem to have in ore in the witness stand.

There is also a disposition here among Americans to fear the discharge of their

the witness stand.

There is also a disposition here among Americans to fear the discharge of their duty when sitting on the jury in a case in which a Mexican is on trial, for fear of personal violence, or of material damage to property in the darkest hours of the night. One member of the coroner's jury, in the above-mentioned case, insisted that he be accused from Jury as a behinder to the coroner's personal trials and the coroner's personal trials are the coroner's personal trials. above-mentioned case, insisted that he be excused from duty, as he believed the woman had suffered an unnatural death, and if such should be the verdict of the jury, he feared his property might be destroyed or he himself subjected to a personal encounter with some murderous "greaser." With such timidity-manifest in the outset by one of the jurors, if does not seem at all improbable that this fear may have extended to others of the jurors to such an extent as to influence a verdict in the case. If such be innuence a verdict in the case. It such be the case in this instance or upon any other occasion it is surely high time that the culprits who attempt to intimidate jurors from an honest expression of their beliefs, either by threats or attempts at personal violence or destruction of property should be summarily dealt with. A few whole-some sentences to San, Quentin would. some sentences to San Quentin would do much toward the furtherance of expres-sions of honest belief in such cases.

A REMARKABLE CHANGE.

The northern portion of Orange county is just now undergoing a remarkable change, so far as the cultivation of territory is concerned. The establishment of a beet-sugar factory at Anahelm has been the principal cause for such a change. A carload of sugar-beet seed arrived in Anahelm last week, and this alone means the cultiva tion of several thousand acres of the rich soil in that locality. Preparations are be ing made made in various localities in thi ortion of the county for extensive planting of citrus and deciduous fruits. In fact, hundreds of acres are being converted into young orchards, and in a few months more the acreage will be largely increased. The fruit, as well as the vegetable industry, in Orange county has received a great impetus and as the vegetable industry, in Orange county has received a great impetus, and as a result much of the heretofore arid plains roundabout is brought into a high state of cultivation. In so doing the wealth of the county is being materially increased and the possibilities of the future greatly augmented. The northern, unlike the southern portion of the county, has not so many large ranches in which thousands of acres are owned and controlled by one man, or one set of men, thus serving barrier to immigration, but has a great deal of land in small tracts now on the market at very reasonable prices. This is more convenient for the average settler, and it is but natural to suppose that such localities would develop more rapidly than where the land is more generally owned and controlled by wealthy individuals or corporations, who will not sell any of their possessions unless they sell all at one time. "There are enough questions of great difficulty arising in this country which must be settled without adding to them questions arising from the old world's making a dumping ground of the United States. If the nations across the ocean persist in adopting institutions which depersist in adopting institutions which develop that species of human beings, let them take care of the products of their own low civilization. The American Nation has great powers of absorption and assimilation. But it does seem to me that there is danger of the national stomach becoming overloaded by this constant influx of the dregs from the various countries of the

Heating of the High School Building. J. N. Preston, architect of the High School building, writes THE TIMES to say that it is an error to state that the architect who designed the building made no provisions for flues or other means of heating it. Mr. Preston continues:

In the designing of the High School building, provisions were made for a most perfect and complete system of ventilation and heating, by the use of force and exhaust fans, and, in construction, all the mess were inserted for the purpose of carrying out this plan; but, for the want of funds at the command of the Board of Education, the putting in of the heating and ventilation as originally designed, was eliminated from the contract. I fully agree with This Times that this matter should receive the early attention of the Board of Education, and the plant be put in without unnecessary delay.

Who Will Be the Next President of the Santa Fe.

K. H. Wade Among Those Mentioned for the Position.

The Terminal and San Pedro Transportation Companies.

C. P. Huntington Thought to Have Control of the Tehuantepec Road-- Excursion Rates for the G.A.R. Encampment,

Much speculation is still rife as to who will be chosen president of the Santa Fé system to succeed Allen G. Manvel. Railroad men, says the Kansas City Star, in a recent issue, are making many guesses as to the identity of the man who will occupy first place in the management of the great road. One impression which strongly prevails in Kansas City is that the selection of a new president will be a vindication of the W. B. Strong administration, but this idea is scouted by others, who maintain that the Strong interests in the Santa Fé Company are forever weakened beyond recovery.

It is not doubted that George C. Magoun will assume executive control of the property until a new president is named, and it is probable that he will choose the man. In this event, it is claimed, the successor to Mr. Manvel will be A. A. Robinson, the present general manager of the system. Mr. Robinson has made a reputation with Robinson has made a reputation with the Santa Fé owners, and it is understood that a number of them will support him. When Mr. Man-vel was chosen as president Mr. Robinson was a favorite for the posi-tion, and this fact is regarded as a tion, and this fact is regarded as a strong argument in his favor.

Should Mr. Robinson be made president it is predicted that wholesale changes will be made, especially in the traffic department, with which he has several times expressed himself as disagriculed. satistied.

Among other names proposed is that of Vice-President Springer. Judge Springer has taken an active part with Mr. Manvel in the management of the road, and has had a great deal to say, especially in regard to the traffic deartment and associations. Generally, owever, he is not regarded as a sufficiently strong railroad man for the position, although a brilliant and able considered good in the event that Mr. Robinson is not chosen is K. H. Wade at present general manager of the Santa Fé system in California. It is also conjectured that Mr. Magoun will continue in control of the property him-self for on indefinite time and finally appoint an outsider altogether, as in the case of Mr. Manvel.

Many other rumors, are also afloat.

The San Diego papers state there is a a strong probability that Robert Harris, one of the directors of the Santa Fé, who is now visiting the city of Baynclimate, will be chosen to succeed Allen G. Manvel in the presidency of the big railroad system, and point to the fact that a year or more ago, when Mr. Har-ris was elected a director of the Santa Fé, Eastern papers said that it was understood that he was to be president if Mr. Manyel's health would not per mit him to continue at the head of affairs. For some time Mr. Harris was president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system. He retired from that position to become president of the Northern Pacific, after Henry Villard had lost control. On Villard's ascendancy Mr. Harris became identified with the Santa Fé system.

The inquest was held at the undertaking establishment of Howry & Bresee, corner of Sixth and Broadway, where the bodp was taken from the receiving hospital immediately, the unfortunate hospital immediately the unfortunate man died Saturday, a little after the noon hour, and but an hour after the Richardson, an ex-Southern Pacific Railway fireman who witnessed the affair, and Drs. Morrison and Bryant, who attended the man after the accident, were each successively placed upon the stand, as was Charles H. McNalley, a brother-in-law of the deceased, who testified as to the mental condition of the man.

Engineer Simonds testified to having noticed the man as he stepped from the platform at the depot, apparently to cross the track; but, as the engine was going very slowly and was quite a distance from him, thought nothing of the occurrence.

He next saw him when the fireman jumped to his side and said: "Reverse the lever, that man has thrown himself in front of the engine." He looked ahead, as he reversed the lever, but too late, as the ponderous engine was just striking the man, and, before it could be stopped, had crushed him.

He saw the engineer jump to the lever and saw the wheels reverse, but the impetus of the engine was too great to stop in time, although running

Dr. Morrison testified to the interview given in The Times vesterday morning between himself and Dr. Bryant and the deceased, in which Lucas admitted he had intentionally thrown himself in front of the engine, giving as his reason for so doing that he did not want to live any longer. Dr. Bryant corroborated these facts, and told of taking from the man's pockets a broken that had contained whisky, which had saturated the man's clothing

Charles F. Lucas, Jr., admitted the same facts to Mr. Chambers, of the Southern California Railway, after the inquest, saying at that time: "I am perfectly satisfied with the verdict; I have no idea but that father committed the act premeditately, and with intent to end his life."

The theory that the unfortunate man had not been on the best of terms with his wife for some time was borne out by the evidence of Mr. McNally, although only inferentially, while other facts pointing to that fact were secured from individuals who knew the family.

The case is a mysterious one, and made more so by the unwillingness of the wife to make any statement.
